CALIPER COMPETENCY LIBRARY Account Service Specialist

Account service specialists provide a good customer experience while also engaging in sales behaviors such as cross- or up-selling. They build rapport with clients in order to identify their needs, offer tailored advice about products or services, develop deeper relationships, and create opportunities to generate business by coming through for their customers. Their interactions can be with current customers or prospective buyers who already have interest in the products or services being offered.

Example positions

Inside Sales Representative, Call Center Representative, Retail Salesperson, Relationship Manager, Account Manager, Customer Service Representative (Sales)

COMPETENCIES

Service focus – They place great emphasis on creating customer loyalty by ensuring the highest value of service is always provided and by delivering on commitments to the customer.

Influence and persuasion – Account Service Specialists use tactics to persuade others to take a specific course of action and establish credibility to sustain the respect of others.

Relationship building – They develop long-term professional relationships with others and excel at building and maintaining friendly interactions, establishing credibility, and building rapport with individuals or networks of contacts.

Professionalism – They meticulously adhere to values such as courtesy, respect, honesty, and responsibility in all dealings with peers, managers, customers, partners, members of the community, and other stakeholders.

Active listening – Account Service Specialists enhance mutual understanding in communicating with others by expressing genuine interest in the content and meaning of others' messages. They ask clarifying questions to ensure understanding and to get more information, and they rephrase what is said to check meaning and interpretation.

Time management – Account Service Specialists are able to manage multiple responsibilities by being organized and keeping on top of important time-sensitive tasks.

Representative behaviors

- Works to understand situations from the customer's perspective
- Persuasively sells ideas to gain support and buy-in
- Builds collaborative relationships and alliances

- Delivers on commitments consistently
- Listens attentively to other people
- Manages time in a way that allows for responsiveness to shifting demands

CALIPER COMPETENCY LIBRARY Account Service Specialist

JOB MODEL

Leading	С	Active ommunicatio	n	Interperso Dynamic		Deci	isions		Solving roblems		Managing Processes		Self- Manageme	∍nt
		Influence and Persuasion
	n
				Service Fo	cus
	je A	ctive Listenir	ng	Relations Building
											Time Managemer	nt
													Professiona	lisn
	٠	1	i		ı	- 1	1			-
•				1	ı	- 1	1	ı		•
					ï									